WELCOME TO BURROWS LEA COUNTRY HOUSE

A unique historical home with an exceptional 75-year tradition of healing and everything you need for deeply restorative retreats and events.

Set in 30 acres of beautiful gardens and woodlands, Burrows Lea Country House has been carefully restored as a venue for high-end retreats, corporate away days, and private celebrations. Close to London but set in the calm of the Surrey Hills countryside, Burrows Lea offers the best of both worlds: easy to reach – and wonderfully peaceful.

What we offer: A Surrey Hills country house with a long heritage of healing, eight luxury bedrooms for overnight guests. Versatile indoor and outdoor event spaces with sweeping views. Capacity for anything from small retreats to large-scale events (up to 500 with marquees or glamping). Personal support to make sure every event runs smoothly.

A HISTORY OF HEALING AND CONNECTION

Burrows Lea Country House has always been a place of transformation. Once home to Harry Edwards, known as the 20th century's greatest healer, the house became the base for the Harry Edwards Foundation, which is known worldwide as a sanctuary for peace and healing. For decades, people travelled to our country estate seeking renewal, and it has become synonymous with healing energy, tranquillity and transformation.

Burrows Lea is now entering a new chapter. The house has been beautifully updated to welcome a new generation of visitors seeking peace and restoration. With refreshed interiors, adaptable event spaces, and breathtaking views of the Surrey Hills, it is now a home for incredible retreats, corporate away days, and intimate private celebrations. Every detail reflects our commitment to Harry Edwards' legacy, preserving the healing spirit of the house and grounds while providing everything that those who visit need for an experience that is truly unforgettable.

Burrows Lea is a place where heritage meets fresh ideas, and where people can gather for inspiration, connection, and transformation.
